DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Claims 1-6, 8, 10, 11, 22, 23, 27, 35, 36 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising methods of treating a neurological disorder and/or other ischemic disorder, e.g. stroke, epilepsy, Parkinson's disease, etc., such disorders being known in the art to result from disparate causes and to display disparate symptoms. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species consisting of a single identifiable patient population, even though this requirement is traversed.

2. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

3. All claims appear to be generic to at least more than one distinct species.

4. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each species comprising methods of treating a distinct disorder effecting a single identifiable patient population, and are distinct from each other because these disorders are known in the art to result from disparate causes and to display disparate symptoms.

5. Additionally, this application contains claims directed to more than one patenably distinct species of administration for the treatment of a single disorder. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: claims 1-6, 8, 10, 11, 22, 23, 27, 35, 36 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising methods of administering a particular neuregulin or neureglin fragment, e.g. GGF, ARIA, NDF or members of the hergulin family. The claims encompass an apparently limitless and indecipherable number of structurally distinct and functionally divergent molecules - the use of one apparently not required for the use of the other. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species of molecule to be administered in the elected method of treatment, even though this requirement is traversed.

6. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

7. All claims appear to be generic to at least more than one distinct species.

8. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each species appears to be structurally distinct and functionally divergent from each of the other molecules - the use of one apparently not required for the use of the other.

9. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

10. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
